

Contents

|          |                                                       |           |
|----------|-------------------------------------------------------|-----------|
|          | Preface                                               | xiii      |
| 1 | Plasma diagnostics                             | 1  |
| 1.1      | Introduction                                          | 1         |
| 1.2      | Plasma properties                                     | 2         |
|          | 1.2.1 Moments of the distribution function            | 3         |
|          | 1.2.2 Multiple species                                | 5         |
| 1.3      | Categories of diagnostics                             | 6         |
|          | Further reading                                       | 8         |
| 2 | Magnetic diagnostics                           | 10 |
| 2.1      | Magnetic field measurements                           | 10        |
|          | 2.1.1 The magnetic coil                               | 10        |
|          | 2.1.2 Hall effect and Faraday effect measurements     | 12        |
|          | 2.1.3 Rogowski coils                                  | 14        |
|          | 2.1.4 Ohmic power and conductivity                    | 16        |
| 2.2      | Magnetohydrodynamic equilibrium                       | 20        |
|          | 2.2.1 Diamagnetism ( $m = 0$ term)                    | 21        |
|          | 2.2.2 Position and asymmetry measurements ( $m = 1$ ) | 25        |
| 2.3      | Internal magnetic probe measurements                  | 32        |
|          | 2.3.1 Field measurements                              | 32        |
|          | 2.3.2 Current density                                 | 36        |
|          | 2.3.3 Electric field                                  | 37        |
|          | 2.3.4 Pressure                                        | 40        |
|          | 2.3.5 Two- and three-dimensional measurements         | 40        |
| 2.4      | Fluctuations                                          | 42        |
|          | 2.4.1 External measurements                           | 42        |
|          | 2.4.2 Internal fluctuation measurements               | 47        |
|          | Further reading                                       | 48        |
|          | Exercises                                             | 48        |
| 3 | Plasma particle flux                           | 50 |
| 3.1      | Preliminaries                                         | 50        |
|          | 3.1.1 Particle flux                                   | 51        |
|          | 3.1.2 Debye shielding                                 | 52        |
|          | 3.1.3 Collisional effects                             | 53        |

|       |                                                                  |     |     |                                                  |                                                     |     |
|-------|------------------------------------------------------------------|-----|-----|--------------------------------------------------|-----------------------------------------------------|-----|
| viii  | Contents                                                         |     |     | Contents                                         |                                                     | ix  |
| 3.2   | Probes in collisionless plasmas without magnetic fields          | 55  |     | 4.5.2                                            | Relative merits of reflectometry and interferometry | 128 |
| 3.2.1 | Sheath analysis                                                  | 55  |     |                                                  | Further reading                                     | 129 |
| 3.2.2 | Sheath thickness                                                 | 60  |     |                                                  | Exercises                                           | 129 |
| 3.2.3 | Exact solutions                                                  | 62  |     |                                                  |                                                     |     |
| 3.2.4 | Interpretation of the characteristic                             | 63  | 5   | Electromagnetic emission by free electrons       |                                                     | 132 |
| 3.3   | The effects of a magnetic field                                  | 66  | 5.1 | Radiation from an accelerated charge             |                                                     | 132 |
| 3.3.1 | General effects                                                  | 66  |     | 5.1.1                                            | The radiation fields                                | 132 |
| 3.3.2 | Quasi collisionless ion collection in a strong magnetic field    | 67  |     | 5.1.2                                            | Frequency spectrum in the far field                 | 134 |
| 3.3.3 | Collisions in a magnetic field                                   | 71  | 5.2 | Cyclotron radiation                              |                                                     | 135 |
| 3.3.4 | Discussion of probe theories in magnetic fields                  | 75  |     | 5.2.1                                            | Radiation by a single electron                      | 135 |
| 3.4   | Applications                                                     | 76  |     | 5.2.2                                            | Plasma emissivity                                   | 139 |
| 3.4.1 | Some practical considerations                                    | 76  |     | 5.2.3                                            | Nonrelativistic plasma                              | 140 |
| 3.4.2 | More sophisticated analyzers                                     | 79  |     | 5.2.4                                            | Radiation transport, absorption, and emission       | 142 |
|       | Further reading                                                  | 84  |     | 5.2.5                                            | Wave polarization and finite density effects        | 145 |
|       | Exercises                                                        | 84  |     | 5.2.6                                            | Spatially varying magnetic field                    | 150 |
| 4     | Refractive-index measurements                                    | 87  |     | 5.2.7                                            | Diagnostic applications in thermal plasmas          | 152 |
| 4.1   | Electromagnetic waves in plasma                                  | 87  |     | 5.2.8                                            | Nonthermal plasmas                                  | 155 |
| 4.1.1 | Waves in uniform media                                           | 87  |     | 5.2.9                                            | Čerenkov emission                                   | 158 |
| 4.1.2 | Plasma conductivity                                              | 90  | 5.3 | Radiation from electron-ion encounters           |                                                     | 160 |
| 4.1.3 | Nonuniform media: The WKB approximation and full-wave treatments | 94  |     | 5.3.1                                            | Classical bremsstrahlung                            | 161 |
| 4.2   | Measurement of electron density                                  | 95  |     | 5.3.2                                            | Quantum-mechanical bremsstrahlung                   | 167 |
| 4.2.1 | Interferometry                                                   | 95  |     | 5.3.3                                            | Integration over velocities                         | 169 |
| 4.2.2 | Determining the phase shift                                      | 100 |     | 5.3.4                                            | Recombination radiation contribution                | 171 |
| 4.2.3 | Modulation and detection methods                                 | 103 |     | 5.3.5                                            | Temperature measurement                             | 175 |
| 4.2.4 | Coherence, diffraction, and refraction                           | 105 |     | 5.3.6                                            | Multiple species: $Z_{\text{eff}}$ measurement      | 177 |
| 4.2.5 | Choice of frequency, vibration                                   | 109 |     | 5.3.7                                            | Absorption: Blackbody level bremsstrahlung          | 179 |
| 4.2.6 | Interferometric imaging                                          | 110 |     | 5.3.8                                            | x-ray imaging                                       | 180 |
| 4.2.7 | Schlieren and shadowgraph imaging                                | 112 |     | 5.3.9                                            | Nonthermal emission                                 | 185 |
| 4.2.8 | Scattering from refractive-index perturbations                   | 115 |     |                                                  | Further reading                                     | 188 |
| 4.3   | Magnetic field measurement                                       | 115 |     |                                                  | Exercises                                           | 189 |
| 4.3.1 | Effect of magnetic field                                         | 115 | 6   | Electromagnetic radiation from bound electrons   |                                                     | 191 |
| 4.3.2 | Faraday rotation                                                 | 116 | 6.1 | Radiative transitions: The Einstein coefficients |                                                     | 192 |
| 4.3.3 | Propagation close to perpendicular                               | 118 | 6.2 | Types of equilibria                              |                                                     | 194 |
| 4.3.4 | Measurement of the polarization                                  | 122 |     | 6.2.1                                            | Thermal equilibrium                                 | 195 |
| 4.4   | Abel inversion                                                   | 124 |     | 6.2.2                                            | Saha-Boltzmann population distribution              | 195 |
| 4.5   | Reflectometry                                                    | 125 |     | 6.2.3                                            | Nonthermal populations                              | 197 |
| 4.5.1 | Calculation of the phase delay                                   | 126 |     | 6.2.4                                            | Coronal equilibrium                                 | 199 |
|       |                                                                  |     |     | 6.2.5                                            | Time-dependent situations                           | 200 |

|       |                                                        |            |
|-------|--------------------------------------------------------|------------|
| x     | Contents                                        |            |
| 6.3   | Rate coefficients for collisional processes            | 203        |
| 6.3.1 | Radiative recombination                                | 204        |
| 6.3.2 | Collisional ionization                                 | 206        |
| 6.3.3 | Collisional excitation                                 | 208        |
| 6.3.4 | Dielectronic recombination                             | 211        |
| 6.3.5 | Example: Carbon v                                      | 214        |
| 6.3.6 | Charge-exchange recombination                          | 215        |
| 6.4   | Line broadening                                        | 216        |
| 6.4.1 | Natural line broadening                                | 216        |
| 6.4.2 | Doppler broadening                                     | 218        |
| 6.4.3 | Pressure broadening                                    | 218        |
| 6.4.4 | Combinations of broadening effects                     | 221        |
| 6.4.5 | Reabsorption: Optically thick lines                    | 222        |
| 6.5   | Applications                                           | 224        |
| 6.5.1 | Line intensities                                       | 224        |
| 6.5.2 | Doppler broadening                                     | 227        |
| 6.5.3 | Ion flow velocity                                      | 230        |
| 6.5.4 | Stark widths                                           | 231        |
| 6.5.5 | Bolometry                                              | 232        |
| 6.6   | Active diagnostics                                     | 233        |
| 6.6.1 | Resonant fluorescence                                  | 233        |
| 6.6.2 | Zeeman splitting: Magnetic field measurements          | 234        |
|       | Further reading                                        | 235        |
|       | Exercises                                              | 236        |
| 7     | Scattering of electromagnetic radiation         | 239 |
| 7.1   | Relativistic electron motion in electromagnetic fields | 240        |
| 7.2   | Incoherent Thomson scattering                          | 242        |
| 7.2.1 | Nonrelativistic scattering: The dipole approximation   | 242        |
| 7.2.2 | Conditions for incoherent scattering                   | 243        |
| 7.2.3 | Incoherent Thomson scattering ( $B = 0$ )              | 246        |
| 7.2.4 | Experimental considerations                            | 252        |
| 7.3   | Coherent scattering                                    | 258        |
| 7.3.1 | The scattered field and power                          | 258        |
| 7.3.2 | Scattering form factor for a uniform plasma            | 262        |
| 7.3.3 | Problems of diagnostics using the ion feature          | 269        |
| 7.3.4 | Scattering from macroscopic density fluctuations       | 270        |
| 7.4   | Scattering when a magnetic field is present            | 274        |
| 7.4.1 | Incoherent scattering from magnetized electrons        | 275        |
| 7.4.2 | Presence of the harmonic structure                     | 277        |

|       |                                                                 |            |
|-------|-----------------------------------------------------------------|------------|
|       | Contents                                                 | xi         |
| 7.4.3 | Magnetic field measurement                                      | 280        |
| 7.4.4 | Coherent scattering in a magnetic field                         | 281        |
|       | Further reading                                                 | 281        |
|       | Exercises                                                       | 282        |
| 8     | Ion processes                                            | 284 |
| 8.1   | Neutral particle analysis                                       | 284        |
| 8.1.1 | Collision processes                                             | 284        |
| 8.1.2 | Neutral transport                                               | 287        |
| 8.1.3 | The fast neutral spectrum                                       | 290        |
| 8.1.4 | Dense plasma cases                                              | 293        |
| 8.1.5 | Nonthermal plasmas                                              | 295        |
| 8.1.6 | Neutral density measurement                                     | 296        |
| 8.2   | Active probing with neutral particles                           | 298        |
| 8.2.1 | Neutral-beam attenuation                                        | 299        |
| 8.2.2 | Active charge exchange                                          | 301        |
| 8.2.3 | Fast ion diagnostics                                            | 302        |
| 8.2.4 | Doping species, lithium beams                                   | 303        |
| 8.3   | Neutron diagnostics                                             | 306        |
| 8.3.1 | Reactions and cross sections                                    | 306        |
| 8.3.2 | Complicating factors                                            | 309        |
| 8.3.3 | Thermal neutron spectrum                                        | 311        |
| 8.4   | Charged particle diagnostics                                    | 316        |
| 8.4.1 | Charged reaction products                                       | 316        |
| 8.4.2 | Orbits of energetic charged particles                           | 318        |
| 8.4.3 | Ion probing beams                                               | 322        |
|       | Further reading                                                 | 324        |
|       | Exercises                                                       | 324        |
|       | Appendix 1 Fourier analysis                                     | 329        |
|       | Appendix 2 Errors, fluctuations, and statistics                 | 336        |
|       | Appendix 3 Survey of radiation technology                       | 340        |
|       | Appendix 4 Definitions and identities of fundamental parameters | 347        |
|       | Glossary of symbols                                             | 349        |
|       | References                                                      | 355        |
|       | Index                                                           | 359        |