1.	TH	$IE LASER \dots \dots$
	1.	Introduction
	2.	Conventional sources of line spectra
		2.1. Factors influencing line profile
		2.2. Factors influencing coherence
	3.	The optical cavity
	4.	Stimulated emission
	5.	Gain profile and threshold condition for homogeneously broadened transition
	6.	Spectral width of the laser oscillator
	7.	Mode pulling effects
	8.	Inhomogeneously broadened laser transition
	9.	Gain saturation
		References
2.	RE	EVIEW OF RADIATION THEORY
	1.	Introduction
	2.	Radiation in vacuum.         25
		2.1. Intensity of radiation
		2.2. Flux of radiation
		2.3. Energy density of radiation
		2.4. Radiation pressure
		2.5. Radiative stress tensor
	3.	Radiation in a cavity
		3.1. Modes of oscillation in an enclosed cavity
		3.2. Blackbody radiation into a single transverse mode
		3.3. Number of photons emitted by a blackbody into a quantum state 37
	4.	Radiation and matter
		4.1. Mass absorption coefficient
		4.2. Atomic absorption coefficient
		4.3. Number of absorption processes per second
		4.4. Classical theory of emission
		4.5. Classical theory of atoms interacting with electromagnetic radiation . 40
		4.6. Differential Einstein coefficients

		4.7. Einstein coefficients $\ldots$ $\ldots$ $\ldots$ $\ldots$ 47
		4.8. Relation between the absorption coefficient and the Einstein coefficient 49
		4.8.1. Photoexcitation cross-section
		4.9. Lifetime of excited states
		4.10. Refractive index and the dispersion relation
		4.10.1. Phase shift and line shape
		References
3.	RA	ADIATION AND ATOMIC SYSTEMS
	1.	Introduction
	2.	Basic postulates of quantum mechanics
	3.	Interactions between atoms and radiation
		3.1. Two level atomic system
		3.2. Electromagnetic transitions in a two level system
		3.3. Electromagnetic transitions (broad-band radiation)
		3.4. Electromagnetic transitions with damping (weak signal approximation) 76
		3.5. Rabi strong signal theory
	4.	Open quantum mechanical systems
		4.1. The density matrix
		4.2. Coherence between states
		References
4.	OF	TICAL RESONATORS (SIMPLE CONSIDERATIONS) 93—107
	1.	Laser cavities and resonators (introduction)
	2.	Resonant cavity
	2. 3.	Resonant cavity    93      Fresnel number (elementary considerations)    99
	2. 3. 4.	Resonant cavity    93      Fresnel number (elementary considerations)    94      Photon representation of cavity properties    100
	2. 3. 4. 5.	Resonant cavity    93      Fresnel number (elementary considerations)    94      Photon representation of cavity properties    100      The Q of a cavity    101
	2. 3. 4. 5.	Resonant cavity       92         Fresnel number (elementary considerations)       92         Photon representation of cavity properties       100         The Q of a cavity       101         5.1. Bandwidth of laser oscillator       101
	2. 3. 4. 5.	Resonant cavity       92         Fresnel number (elementary considerations)       92         Photon representation of cavity properties       100         The Q of a cavity       101         5.1. Bandwidth of laser oscillator       101         5.2. Effect of losses on Q       102
	2. 3. 4. 5.	Resonant cavity       92         Fresnel number (elementary considerations)       92         Photon representation of cavity properties       100         The Q of a cavity       100         5.1. Bandwidth of laser oscillator       101         5.2. Effect of losses on Q       102         5.3. Time constant of a passive cavity       103
	<ol> <li>2.</li> <li>3.</li> <li>4.</li> <li>5.</li> <li>6.</li> </ol>	Resonant cavity       92         Fresnel number (elementary considerations)       92         Photon representation of cavity properties       100         The Q of a cavity       100         5.1. Bandwidth of laser oscillator       100         5.2. Effect of losses on Q       100         5.3. Time constant of a passive cavity       100         Mode patterns observed       100
	<ol> <li>2.</li> <li>3.</li> <li>4.</li> <li>5.</li> <li>6.</li> </ol>	Resonant cavity       93         Fresnel number (elementary considerations).       93         Photon representation of cavity properties       100         The Q of a cavity       100         5.1. Bandwidth of laser oscillator       100         5.2. Effect of losses on Q       100         5.3. Time constant of a passive cavity       100         Mode patterns observed       100         References       100
5.	2. 3. 4. 5. 6.	Resonant cavity       93         Fresnel number (elementary considerations).       93         Photon representation of cavity properties       94         The Q of a cavity       100         5.1. Bandwidth of laser oscillator       100         5.2. Effect of losses on Q       100         5.3. Time constant of a passive cavity       100         Mode patterns observed       100         References       100         PTICAL RESONATORS (GEOMETRIC THEORY)       108—130
5.	<ol> <li>2.</li> <li>3.</li> <li>4.</li> <li>5.</li> <li>6.</li> <li>OI</li> <li>1.</li> </ol>	Resonant cavity       93         Fresnel number (elementary considerations).       93         Photon representation of cavity properties       94         The Q of a cavity       100         5.1. Bandwidth of laser oscillator       100         5.2. Effect of losses on Q       100         5.3. Time constant of a passive cavity       100         Mode patterns observed       100         References       100         PTICAL RESONATORS (GEOMETRIC THEORY)       108—130         Introduction       103
5.	<ol> <li>2.</li> <li>3.</li> <li>4.</li> <li>5.</li> <li>6.</li> <li>OI</li> <li>1.</li> <li>2.</li> </ol>	Resonant cavity       93         Fresnel number (elementary considerations).       93         Photon representation of cavity properties       94         The Q of a cavity       100         5.1. Bandwidth of laser oscillator       100         5.2. Effect of losses on Q       100         5.3. Time constant of a passive cavity       100         Mode patterns observed       100         PTICAL RESONATORS (GEOMETRIC THEORY)       108—130         Introduction       100         Plane mirror cavity       100
5.	<ol> <li>2.</li> <li>3.</li> <li>4.</li> <li>5.</li> <li>6.</li> <li>OI</li> <li>1.</li> <li>2.</li> <li>3.</li> </ol>	Resonant cavity       93         Fresnel number (elementary considerations).       93         Photon representation of cavity properties       100         The Q of a cavity       100         5.1. Bandwidth of laser oscillator       100         5.2. Effect of losses on Q       100         5.3. Time constant of a passive cavity       100         Mode patterns observed       100         PTICAL RESONATORS (GEOMETRIC THEORY)       108—130         Introduction       100         Plane mirror cavity       100         Cavity with totally reflecting prism.       110
5.	<ol> <li>2.</li> <li>3.</li> <li>4.</li> <li>5.</li> <li>6.</li> <li>OI</li> <li>1.</li> <li>2.</li> <li>3.</li> </ol>	Resonant cavity       93         Fresnel number (elementary considerations).       93         Photon representation of cavity properties       100         The Q of a cavity       100         5.1. Bandwidth of laser oscillator       100         5.2. Effect of losses on Q       100         5.3. Time constant of a passive cavity       100         Mode patterns observed       100         PTICAL RESONATORS (GEOMETRIC THEORY)       108—130         Introduction       100         Plane mirror cavity       100         Cavity with totally reflecting prism.       110         3.1. Standing waves in roof-top cavities       112
5.	2. 3. 4. 5. 6. 0I 1. 2. 3. 4.	Resonant cavity       93         Fresnel number (elementary considerations).       93         Photon representation of cavity properties       100         The Q of a cavity       100         5.1. Bandwidth of laser oscillator       100         5.2. Effect of losses on Q       100         5.3. Time constant of a passive cavity       100         Mode patterns observed       100         PTICAL RESONATORS (GEOMETRIC THEORY)       108—130         Introduction       100         Plane mirror cavity       100         Cavity with totally reflecting prism.       110         3.1. Standing waves in roof-top cavities       112         Spherical mirror cavities       114
5.	<ol> <li>2.</li> <li>3.</li> <li>4.</li> <li>5.</li> <li>6.</li> <li>OH</li> <li>1.</li> <li>2.</li> <li>3.</li> <li>4.</li> </ol>	Resonant cavity       93         Fresnel number (elementary considerations).       93         Photon representation of cavity properties       100         The Q of a cavity       100         5.1. Bandwidth of laser oscillator       100         5.2. Effect of losses on Q       100         5.3. Time constant of a passive cavity       100         Mode patterns observed       100         PTICAL RESONATORS (GEOMETRIC THEORY)       108—130         Introduction       100         Cavity with totally reflecting prism.       110         3.1. Standing waves in roof-top cavities       111         4.1. Combination of plane mirror and spherical mirror       112
5.	<ol> <li>2.</li> <li>3.</li> <li>4.</li> <li>5.</li> <li>6.</li> <li>OI</li> <li>1.</li> <li>2.</li> <li>3.</li> <li>4.</li> </ol>	Resonant cavity       93         Fresnel number (elementary considerations).       93         Photon representation of cavity properties       100         The Q of a cavity       100         5.1. Bandwidth of laser oscillator       100         5.2. Effect of losses on Q       100         5.3. Time constant of a passive cavity       100         S.3. Time constant of a passive cavity       100         References       100         PTICAL RESONATORS (GEOMETRIC THEORY)       108—130         Introduction       100         Cavity with totally reflecting prism.       110         3.1. Standing waves in roof-top cavities       111         4.1. Combination of plane mirror and spherical mirror       112
5.	2. 3. 4. 5. 6. 0I 1. 2. 3. 4.	Resonant cavity       93         Fresnel number (elementary considerations).       93         Photon representation of cavity properties       100         The Q of a cavity       100         5.1. Bandwidth of laser oscillator       100         5.2. Effect of losses on Q       100         5.3. Time constant of a passive cavity       100         S.3. Time constant of a passive cavity       100         Mode patterns observed       100         PTICAL RESONATORS (GEOMETRIC THEORY)       108—130         Introduction       100         Cavity with totally reflecting prism.       110         3.1. Standing waves in roof-top cavities       111         4.1. Combination of plane mirror and spherical mirror       111         4.3. General conditions of stability       117
5.	2. 3. 4. 5. 6. 0I 1. 2. 3. 4. 5.	Resonant cavity       93         Fresnel number (elementary considerations).       93         Photon representation of cavity properties       100         The Q of a cavity       100         5.1. Bandwidth of laser oscillator       100         5.2. Effect of losses on Q       100         5.3. Time constant of a passive cavity       100         Mode patterns observed       100         PTICAL RESONATORS (GEOMETRIC THEORY)       108—130         Introduction       100         Cavity with totally reflecting prism.       110         3.1. Standing waves in roof-top cavities       111         4.1. Combination of plane mirror and spherical mirror       111         4.3. General conditions of stability       117         Cavity considered as a lens sequence       119
5.	2. 3. 4. 5. 6. OH 1. 2. 3. 4. 5. 5.	Resonant cavity93Fresnel number (elementary considerations).93Photon representation of cavity properties100The Q of a cavity1005.1. Bandwidth of laser oscillator1005.2. Effect of losses on Q1005.3. Time constant of a passive cavity100Mode patterns observed100References100PTICAL RESONATORS (GEOMETRIC THEORY)108—130Introduction100Cavity with totally reflecting prism.1103.1. Standing waves in roof-top cavities1114.1. Combination of plane mirror and spherical mirror1124.3. General conditions of stability117Cavity considered as a lens sequence1125.1. Stability condition12

vm

	6. 7.	Stability diagram       122         Geometrical losses from unstable cavities       125         References       130
6.	OP	TICAL RESONATORS (WAVE THEORY)
	1.	Confocal multimode resonators
	2.	Confocal resonator fields
	3.	Non-confocal concave resonator
		3.1. Mode separation and degeneracy
	4.	Resonators with cylindrical symmetry
		4.1. Circular mirrors
		4.2. Spherical annular mirrors
		References
7.	GA	AUSSIAN BEAMS
	1	Introduction 152
	1. 2	Introduction
	2.	Transformation by a long
	5.	11aiisionii alioni by a leiis       156         2.1       Pox transfer matrix         160
		3.1. Ray mainsfer matrix
	٨	S.2. Application to Gaussian deality.
	- 1 . 5	Matching of cavities
	5.	5.1  Efforts of any ity mismatch
	6	Geometrical analogue
	0. 7	Uisher order modes
	7.	Pafaranaaa 175
8.	GA	AIN AND SATURATION EFFECTS
	1.	Introduction
	2.	Gain saturation
		2.1. Theory of gain saturation
	3.	Gain narrowing
	4.	Laser amplifier gain
	5.	Saturation in high-gain lasers
		5.1. Effect of gain saturation on modes
	6.	Power output
		6.1. Single mode operation
		6.2. Mirror transmission and power optimization
	7.	Hole-burning effects
		7.1. Hole width
		7.2. Effect of mode degeneracy on gaseous laser output
		7.3. Hole burning and Lamb dip
	8.	Gain saturation in amplifiers with hole burning and cross relaxation 204
	9.	Mode pulling
		References

IX

9.	LA	MB'S THEORY OF THE LASER
	1.	Introduction
	2.	Representation of field in an active cavity
	3.	The macroscopic polarization
	4.	Theory for stationary atoms
		4.1. Equation of motion of density matrix with excitation
		4.2. First order theory (stationary atoms)
		4.3. Non-linear theory (stationary atoms)
	5.	Theory for moving atoms
		51 Density matrix and macroscopic polarization in the presence of atomic motion 234
		5.2 Summary of equations describing radiation field and active medium 236
		5.3 Iterative solution of the Lamb equations
	6	First order theory 220
	0. 7	Plast order theory
	7.	Non-intear theory
		7.1. Inita order theory
		7.2. Single mode operation
		7.3. Population terms $\ldots \ldots 252$
	_	7.4. Lamb dip and hole burning $\ldots \ldots \ldots \ldots \ldots \ldots \ldots \ldots \ldots \ldots 252$
	8.	Multimode operation
		References
10.	CC	$DHERENCE \dots \dots$
	1.	Introduction
	2.	Elementary principles and definitions
	3.	Classical wave theory of coherence
	4.	The stochastic description of the classical radiation field
	5.	Second order coherence – the mutual coherence function
	6.	Transient coherence
	7.	Propagation of the mutual coherence function
	8.	Coherent light.
	9.	The development of spatial coherence within a laser cavity
	10.	Higher order coherence effects for thermal radiation 285
	11.	Laser noise 288
	12	Statistics of laser radiation in the presence of phase fluctuations alone 294
	12.	Statistics of laser radiation with amplitude fluctuations
	15.	Paferances 200
11.	CA	VITY ENGINEERING
	1.	Introduction
	2	Laser windows
	•	2.1 Brewster angled windows 300
		2.1.         Demonstration angled windows
	2
	э. х
	4.	Corner cube and root-top reflectors

х

	4.1. Travelling wave modes	306
	4.2. Standing wave modes	308
5.	Mode volume	309
	5.1. Axial alignment tolerances of gas laser tubes	311
6.	Mirror alignment tolerances.	312
7.	Frequency effects	315
	7.1. Causes of frequency variations	315
	7.1.1. Refractive index of gas discharges (due to density of free electrons)	316
	7.2. Influence of active medium on mode formation	317
	7.3. Beat frequencies between modes	317
8.	Mode selection	319
	8.1. Introduction	319
	8.2.1. Selection of transverse modes by tilting mirrors	320
	8.2.2. Selection of modes by a circular aperture	320
	8.3. Mode selection in long lasers	321
	8.3.1. External mode selection (Smith)	321
	8.3.2. Internal mode selection (Smith and Fox)	323
	8.4. Mode selection by prism	325
9.	Stabilization of frequency of single mode lasers	327
10.	Multilayer films	329
	References	328

Appendices

А.	COMPLEX INTEGRATION
	Dispersion relations       340         Hilbert transforms       343         Expansions of complex functions       344         Integral representation of Bessel functions       345
B.	HAMILTONIAN FOR CHARGED PARTICLE IN ELECTROMAGNETIC
	FIELD
C.	RELATIONSHIP BETWEEN VECTOR POTENTIAL AND ENERGY
	DENSITY OF ELECTROMAGNETIC FIELD
D.	OBLIQUE INCIDENCE OF ELECTROMAGNETIC WAVES ON A DI-
	ELECTRIC SURFACE
E.	MATRIX THEORY
	Polynomials involving matrices
F.	SCALAR THEORY OF DIFFRACTION OF LIGHT

G.	INTEGRAL EQUATIONS
н.	HERMITE POLYNOMIALS
I.	ORTHOGONAL FUNCTIONS
	Orthogonalization
	Recurrence relations
	Hermite polynomials    380      Chebyshev polynomials    381
J.	DOPPLER AND NATURAL BROADENING
	Doppler broadening    384      Natural broadening    386
к.	REAL CORRELATION FUNCTIONS AND THE MUTUAL COHERENCE
	FUNCTION
L.	SOME ELECTROMAGNETIC WAVE THEORY
м.	CYLINDRICAL REPRESENTATION OF PLANE WAVES
N.	THE PLASMA DISPERSION FUNCTION
0.	THE BIVARIATE GAUSSIAN DISTRIBUTION
	References
	Author index
	Subject index

XII