PREFACE	vii
LIST OF PLATES	viii
CHAPTER I. INTRODUCTION	1
1. A Qualitative Survey	1
CHAPTER II. THE OBSERVATIONAL DATA	7
2. The Direction of the Star Light	7
3. The Quality of the Star Light	15
4. The Quantity of the Star Light: Photometry	17
5. The Quantity of the Star Light: Colorimetry	26
CHAPTER III. ELEMENTS OF STATISTICS	28
6. The Concept of Probability	28
7. Statistical Independence	31
8. Expectation Values	33
9. Some Probability Distributions	36
10. The Fourier Transform	40
11. Statistical Applications of the Fourier Transform	46
12. Further Probability Distributions	48
13. Estimation	52
14. Testing Hypotheses	62
15. Confidence Regions	68
16. Regression	69
CHAPTER IV. THE APPARENT DISTRIBUTION OF THE STARS AND GALAXIES	77
17. The Galactic Plane	77
18. The Apparent Distribution of the Stars	80
19. The Apparent Distribution of the Star Clusters	84
20. The Apparent Distribution of the Galaxies	85
CHAPTER V. KINEMATICS	90
21. The Solar Motion Estimated from Radial Velocities	90
22. The Solar Motion Estimated from Proper Motions	94
23. The Mean Motion of the Stars: Galactic Rotation	98
24. The Mean Motion of the Galaxies: the Red-shift	106
25. The Distribution of the Stellar Velocities in the Vicinity of the Sun	108

CHAPTER VI. STELLAR DISTANCES	116
26. Primary Methods of Estimating Stellar Distances	116
27. Colour-magnitude Diagrams	120
28. Secondary Methods of Estimating Stellar Distances	124
29. Tertiary Methods of Estimating Stellar Distances	127
CHAPTER VII. INTEGRAL EQUATIONS OF STELLAR STATISTICS	130
30. The Basic Integral Equations	130
31. Solving the Integral Equations	136
32. The Moments of the Solutions of the Integral Equations	138
33. Approximation in the Mean	140
34. The Convolution Equation: Miscellanea	144
35. Conditional Means	152
36. Spherically Symmetrical Star Clusters	154
APPENDIX I. SOME RESEARCH PROBLEMS	157
APPENDIX II. QUADRATIC FORMS ON THE UNIT SPHERE	158
APPENDIX III. SOME RECENT WORK ON THE DISTRIBUTION OF STELLAR VELOCITIES	162
REFERENCES	164
INDEX	173
OTHER TITLES IN THE SERIES	176
